Light Sidelights
on Police Court Scenes

Y. Ludwig was sentenced to jail for 38 days on a statutory charge yesterday in police court.

Wong Hung, who was driving an automobile without a license, was assessed $5 and costs in police court this morning.

Yee Chong Ming was found with opium in his possession and was given a fine of $25 and costs in police court this morning.

In court yesterday the judge decided that J. Lino had damaged his character and his wife's countenance to the extent of $10.

Manuel Sylvester was drunk. The judge decided that he did not want to see Sylvester in that condition again, and decided to help matters along by taking away $5 from his liquor fund.

Park Kee Chai who was charged with entering a contractor's office and a cigar store last week was brought into court this morning and was handed a nine months' sentence. Chai has two other charges hanging over his head at present.

E. Zabala, a Filipino, was hanging around the immigration station yesterday when Kakaako, the watchman, ordered him to get away. Zabala decided that he wouldn't and flourished a knife. Wm. Mahaulu took the weapon away, and when Zabala was called up in court later, he couldn't prove that he was a perfectly quiet being and was sentenced to 15 days in jail.

DEFEAT PLAN TO RAILROAD GRANT
FOR CHARTER MEN

Supervisors Finally Decide to Abide By Legal Advice, and Make No Appropriation

"This office desires to reiterate"—Deputy Clerk Buffandeau paused last night for the slightest fraction of a second as he came to the closing paragraph of a letter which City and County Attorney A. M. Brown had sent as a second warning to the board of Supervisors, concerning the appropriation of funds from the city coffers to pay the expenses of the charter convention progressing in the city.

The supervisors leaned forward, ears pricked up, and a look as though they contemplated distances in their eyes. The deputy clerk continued: "This office desires to reiterate that the Board of Supervisors is without authority to appropriate the funds of the city and county to defray any expenses of the Charter Convention, except only election expenses."

A slight debate followed the reading, and Supervisors Larsen and Logan scratched busily over a sheet of yellow municipal paper. When the scratching had been finished, Supervisor Larsen arose with a resolution which provided that the city supervisors do not appropriate the money. He was trying to get some definite action on the subject.

When Clerk Buffandeau had finished reading the yellow manuscript Supervisor Arnold got to his feet. His sunburnt face glowed visibly. Already he had gone through the meeting as a champion of parliamentary rules, now advising the mayor on points at issue, now rising to a point of order, now laughing in scorn at some break in procedure made by his less lettered brothers.

Mr. Arnold was plainly peeved at the resolution. "Mr. Mayor," he said, "I fail to see what this board has to do with this matter. It is not our business. We should stand on our own feet, as should also the convention."

"The convention," continued Mr. Arnold, "is a creature of the legislature, and even Mr. Logan says that the law allows the convention to go ahead making expenses, and to call upon the territory to pay them through its auditor. It is not for us to pass the buck on to the mayor."

Mr. Larsen offered with Mr. Arnold. "The mayor cannot appropriate money," he said, "the mayor can recommend, but it takes us to appropriate. The board can put itself on record now as taking the advice of its attorney."

Mr. Logan rose then to explain this purpose of the resolution. "My idea," he said, "was to have the board pass an appropriation and then have the auditor refuse to pay the money. In this way the whole case can be taken at once to the supreme court and decided. But in view of our attorney's opinion this is now impossible."

"I think," he went on, beaming at Mr. Arnold, who sat at his side, "that Mr. Arnold might withdraw this objection which he has made through station to the attorney's department. The resolution will do no harm and the charter convention does not want to quit like a baby."

Mr. Hollinger rose in the nick of time. "Let us stand by our attorney," he said with a Patrick Henry accent. Mr. Arnold nodded soberly, as he remarked that as long as the board had a legal department it must adhere to its advice. "If we do not," he said, "we put a cloud of doubt upon the department."

"I will admit," continued Mr. Arnold, "that four of us were yesterday willing to ask for an appropriation of the money here. But this second letter of the attorney has changed me on the subject. I propose now a sub-resolution to adhere to the advice of the attorney and send his letters to the convention chairman."

There was no second to the sub-resolution, and Mr. Larsen, finding such opposition to his measure, asked that it be withdrawn. "With the unanimous consent of the board," droned the mayor, "the resolution is withdrawn."

"For Mr. Arnold's sake, though," said Mr. Larsen, "I'd like to say that he would never have passed the resolution yesterday, today or tomorrow. I know four of the supervisors who would have voted against it."

"For Mr. Larsen's sake," snapped Mr. Arnold, "I would have Logan carried around in his pocket yesterday four votes tied up in an envelope in favor of such a resolution. Mr. Arnold named over the four supervisors who had favored the action."

"Where, may I ask," questioned Mr. Arnold in closing, "did you get your information that the resolution would have failed, Mr. Larsen?"

"Ahia himself told me he would never go against the opinion of the attorney," said Larsen.

"And Ahia's name was tied up in the envelope with the rest of us," said Arnold.

Mr. Ahia shook his head at both the debaters and looked guilty.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Trial of the divorce suit of Mary Leong against Pak On Leong was continued in Circuit Judge Whitney's court this morning.

An allowance of $60 a month to the family of Chotaro Miyamoto, late of Honolulu, was granted by Circuit Judge Whitney yesterday.

The case of the territory, by the land commissioner, against Charles Lai Young, assumpsit, was discontinued in circuit court yesterday.

A motion to strike appellee's reply brief from the files in the matter of the estate of J. O. Luttid, was denied by the supreme court yesterday.

The regular meeting of the Beachwalk Improvement Club will be held tonight at 7:45 o'clock at J. Alex. Lyle's residence on Beachwalk road.

A meeting of the territorial grand jury will be held in the Judiciary building at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The trial jurors in Judge Stuart's division of circuit court have been notified to be in court at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The final accounts of Jessie F. Thompson, executrix of the estate of M. R. Conner, were approved by Circuit Judge Whitney yesterday and the executrix dismissed.

The case of Mary L. Bisho against Antone Bisho, a suit for divorce, has been continued in Circuit Judge Whitney's court until Wednesday, September 22, for trial.

The monthly meeting of the members of the Chamber of Commerce will be held in the rooms of the chamber, Kaulikeolani building, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

"The quaint fish in the Hawaiian exhibit should wear scarfpins to heighten their effect as floating crabs," runs one of the legends in a page of cartoons on the Panama-Pacific exposition in New York Park.

Notice of the discontinuance of the divorce suit brought by Bessie K. Hart Kal against William Hart Kal, alleging non-support, was filed in circuit court yesterday. The original suit was filed last Saturday.

After the prosecution had closed its case, Thomas Hicks, colored, pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Ashford yesterday of a charge of having committed an assault with intent to murder. Hicks' victim was a Japanese. The defendant will be sentenced Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

A petition asking that J. T. MacDonald be appointed administrator of the estate of Jacob L. Holbrook, late civilian engineer, U. S. A., who died in Honolulu on June 23 this year, has been filed in circuit court. The estate is valued at about $950. There is but one heir, a sister.

Divorces were filed in circuit court yesterday as follows: Caroline Elizabeth McGrath against John Joseph McGrath, non-support; Mary Colquhoun against Alexander Colquhoun and Namemo Hasamoto against Ono Hasamoto.

Albert Waterhouse was elected president of the new board of governors of the Commercial Club at a meeting of the board held yesterday. Other officers elected were Lawrence M. Judd, vice-president; S. M. Lowrey, secretary, and J. K. Clarke, treasurer. President Waterhouse probably will name committees tomorrow.

The case of Baron Charles Etti Le Gay against the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company, an action for damages, has been continued in Circuit Judge Stuart's court until Monday, October 4, for trial. Certain witnesses of the plaintiff are not now in the territory, says a stipulation filed today.

Simultaneously with the arrival of a San Francisco Chronicle from the coast with an alleged interview with Judge Sidney M. Ballou, comes a personal letter from Mr. Ballou in which he makes it clear that the interview was mostly fiction. No one in the islands in touch with the sugar situation and recognizing Judge Ballou's intimate knowledge of it would attribute the quoted remarks to him anyway.

Joseph P. Medeiros, guardian of Caesar Lopes, a minor, has filed his answer in circuit court to a suit brought by the minor and C. S. Franklin, his next best friend, alleging that Medeiros and C. M. V. Forster have failed to make a proper accounting of funds belonging to the minor. Medeiros says that all the funds of the minor have been accounted for and that the records of the court will bear him out in this statement.

LOGAN GIVES ANSWER TO OBJECTION MADE TO SIDEWALK POLICY

"I understand Mr. Pacheco takes exception to the laying of sidewalks on territorial frontage properties by the county," said Supervisor Logan this afternoon.

"I questioned this policy myself last night, strongly backed by Mr. Arnold, but Chairman Shingle of the roads committee replied that it was important to have sidewalks on all public frontages laid before starting on the campaign to enforce the ordinance upon private owners."

"To make a demand on the territorial authorities at this time, even if certain of ultimately gaining the point," Mr. Shingle explained, "meant a long string of red tape which would indefinitely delay the improvement."

These considerations induced withdrawal of the objections, but not without an understanding that the territorial departments involved should in due time be asked to do the right thing by reimbursing the county.

"In any case, as Mr. Shingle stated, the outlay on this matter is not large, while the material and moral results will be great."

TWO MONTHS ON COAST

IS E. A. BERNDT'S PLAN
 Business is the object of a trip to the coast which E. A. Berndt will make a week from today in the Matsonia. He will be gone two months, and while on the coast he will endeavor to find out if the conditions in San Francisco warrant the establishment of an office of the Promotion Committee there after the exposition closes. He will be traveling from Portland to Los Angeles, but while in San Francisco he will learn the probable results of the Hawaii exhibit at the fair.
